

Drinkar

We love 'em.

This autumns and winters drinklist, they are always seasonal and they are supposed to be perceived as Swedish in one way or another.

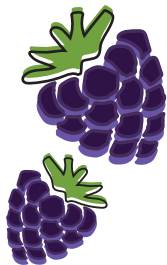

Most of the cocktails have a sentimental reference or a Swedish popular cultural refence that might get lost in translation but ask your friendly bartender and they'll do there best to explain it to you.

Hopefully you'll enjoy drinking them as much as we did creating them.

Skål!

Lili & Susie 105:-

Swedish blackberries, Lillet Blanc, Suze liqueur de Gentiane & tonic

What happens when you take two French aperitifs and mix them with a ton of summer's last blackberries? We'll tell you: delightful music happens.

Lillet & Suze blend perfectly with the blackberries, just like Lili & Susie balanced girl power and sex appeal on the charts in the 80s. This mixtape is topped with ice-cold tonic, and it's incredibly delicious. "What's the color of love?" we say blackberries.

FJOLLTRÄSK 175:-

Cloudbberries, lingonberry, Beefeater gin, sour apples & soda water

In Norrland, they have gold. We asked permission to use it, and they said it was okay as long as we called the drink something derogatory about Stockholm, in their language. We agreed—let them have something up there now that we're doing so well here in the big capital. This creation reflects some earlier drinks we've made, riffing mostly on a smash hit we called Stockholm Syndrome.

But here it's a grog, nothing else will do. It's packed with northern berries and some sour apples with lively bubbles. Ice-cold and quick to drink, you'll be ready for another. Cheers!

Legends of the Fall 155:-

Martell VS Cognac, Roslagspunsch from Norrtäljebränneri, sour autumn raspberries, cherry-plum Spidola & Swedish fig leaves

In the 1994 film, the characters are subjected to betrayal, history, love, nature, and war. Brad Pitt also falls in love with the same girl as his brothers—so foolish. When we think of autumn, we think of dark spirits and fruits like plums. A fun Swedish drink is “Guldkant” with cognac and punsch—kind of old-fashioned, but we know that cognac and punsch work together. Armed with that knowledge, we attack our fantastic cherry-plum Spidola, which we picked in Hallstahammar, then add sour raspberries and flavor it with fig leaves to juggle the taste palette. What you get is something really delicious—a fruity short drink with plum and cognac flavors, balanced by the punsch and fruit—a true Legend of the Fall, available as long as the plum supply lasts.

Mexican Standoff 175:-

Strawberries, sorrel, cocktail tomatoes, white chocolate & Patron Silver tequila

The situation often arises in action movies. A few are worth mentioning, like Quentin Tarantino’s “Reservoir Dogs,” where Joe, Mr. White, and “Nice Guy” Eddie meet in a classic scene on a warehouse floor, and of course, the masterwork “The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly” by Sergio Leone, featuring Clint Eastwood at his best. So, in our Mexican Standoff, we pit Swedish strawberries from Norrköping and roasted cocktail tomatoes against Patron Silver tequila, with sorrel and chocolate as sidekicks helping to deliver flavor ricochets. The result is a flavor explosion, and we can’t say who wins the duel—that’s up to you to decide.

Bugs Bunny 155:-

Swedish carrots, mandarins, Bombay Sapphire gin & Swedish red chili

There are many myths about carrots: they're said to improve night vision, give you a tanned complexion, help digestion, and even cure cancer—big claims. We don't pay much attention to these, but we do believe that carrots taste great. Like Bugs Bunny, we're willing to do anything for a few carrots every day. We've now made that task easier by creating the ultimate blend of fun and healthy. Like old-time snake oil salesmen, we shamelessly market this drink as a cure for all your ailments, and anything else you may need tonight. Bugs Bunny solves it all, simple as that. Guaranteed to cure what ails you, cure all!

Red line 185:-

Strawberries from Norrköping, Stockholms Bränneri Navy Strength gin & a breeze of absinthe

A classic at Freyja, this mix of strong spirits and the most Swedish of flavors represents what Freyja's bar is all about. Named after a classic music label in its own genre, it pays homage to those who came before and opened doors that no one even remembers anymore. That's something to be honored and celebrated across generations. When we stop mixing drinks, we'll always remember this as one of the greats. Stockholms Bränneri Navy gin and the best strawberries from Lida Farm in Norrköping set the taste for this punchy cocktail. We finish it off with a spray of absinthe. Why, you may ask? Because "Det är knas!"

SPACE BANANA 155

Banana water, banana peel “Oleo Saccharum,” Bacardi Carta Blanca,

Suze liqueur de gentiane, Noilly Prat, coconut & birch sap

Our twist on a fun Negroni. Nothing goes to waste with the bananas—the fruit becomes banana water and the peel becomes banana sugar, using a method called Oleo Saccharum in cool bartender circles. We love bananas, and since our opening, we’ve had a variant that celebrates the banana, the everyday hero that nourishes so many and is the base for so many good things in life.

So, with the intro to Electric Banana Band’s classic, we present this year’s Space Banana.

“No, it’s a plane…”

“NO, it’s a Space Banana!”

Strong 4 | Sweet 2 | Sour 1 | Bitter 3

Stoned on Söder 185:-

Maker’s Mark with browned butter, sour peach water & Igloo

The stone fruit dance continues—this year’s comeback kid. We’ve really nailed it with the boss of stone fruits, the eternally shining star, the peach. The inspiration behind this is a peach cobbler. Bourbon and peaches have some history in the American South. An Old Fashioned is a bartender favorite, and a whisky sour is something most people have embraced as a fun drink. Somewhere in between is this drink—a sourer version of a spirit-driven cocktail with a delicious fruit that takes it to the next level.

“A toothless man slowly plucks a banjo melody on a park bench, the smell of a freshly baked peach cobbler cooling on the window sill, and an ice-cold bourbon is poured straight from the freezer. Are we in Södermalm or the deep South?”

Strong 5 | Sweet 3 | Sour 2

FINNS DET KAFFE PÅ GRISFESTEN? 155:-

Swedish pears, ginger, vanilla, Absolut vodka & After Eight-cream

The 80s, when anything was possible. On TV, you could watch Crockett and Tubbs fighting bad guys in Miami, J.R. and Sue Ellen causing drama in Dallas, and here in Sweden Berra and Robban were getting drunk in the Canary Islands.

We ate grilled sandwiches with salad spice, bananas and pineapples in our food—those were the days, Gyllene Tider. In the midst of it all came a dessert so simple yet genius that it shook our world: the After Eight pear. Without any frills, here comes a drink just as brilliant, topped with a cream that nods to another classic cocktail, the Grasshopper.

So many possibilities in one drink. We'll leave you with a quote from the Swedish classic movie Sällskapsresan, that sums up life best:

“Want some?”

“No thanks, I can't handle hard liquor.”

“Who can...?”
